Can you provide this information? Thank you, RussWork in progress, they haven't got there yet For now there is an FAQ on how to set the Westell 7500 in Bridge mode, along with the 6100. The process should be relatively the same. This information is available in the Netgear 7550 Router Manual. But if you do not have the manual for the router or do not want to read the entire manual to find the default login information, you can use the quick start guide below. You must be connected to the router to access the router sign-in page. Netgear 7550 Login Guide Open your web browser (such as Chrome, Firefox, Opera, or any other browser) Click HERE to automatically detect your router's IP. After a few seconds our tool will show a link to the router login page. Click the link that appears. You should see 2 text fields where you can enter a user name and password. The default user name for Netgear 7550 is admin. The default password is password. Enter your username and password, press Enter, and now you should see the router control panel. If your previous login credentials don't work, try this Try different COMBINATIONS of IDs/passwords that are widely used by Netgear that you'll find below. This list is the most popular default username and password combinations used by Netgear. Sometimes the username and password don't work that we mentioned at the top of this guide. Then you can try these username/password combinations below to gain access to your wireless router. Have you tried the following IPs? In the following list we have listed all IP of routers known to manufacturer Netgear. Maybe this will work for you. - default default router IP None of the methods worked for me and I still don't have access to my Netgear 7550! All you have to do is restore the 7550 modem. This can be done easily by clicking the reset button on the back or at the bottom of the router. If you hold down this small button for about 20 seconds (you may need to use a toothpick), the modem will be reset to factory settings. What you need to keep in mind is that when you reset your modem, you lose your online connection. It is therefore better to take the assistance of an expert in this regard. Note: If you do not have enough information, it is obviously advisable to get help from a person who has all the knowledge on this topic. Topic.
